ALEXANDRIA, November 8, 1877. Rev. W. V. Wilson presented the following resolution as a question of privilege while Synod was busily engaged in the consideration of other matters. No action was, therefore, taken upon it at the time, and it will come up hereafter. Mr. Wilson in presenting his resolution said that he held in his hand a pamphlet entitled "The Case of Dr. E. T. An animated discussion arose on the subject of the report of the Committee on Division, and the status in which that paper was left before recess this morning. It was finally resolved that the report of the Judicial Committee on Dr. E. T. Baird's case be the first order of the day to-morrow, and the report of the Committee on Division be the second order.

From this report it appears that the 277 churches of the Synod have taken up three fourths of the collections ordered by the Assembly for the benevolent enterprises of the Church; 156 churches have each taken up all the 6 annual collections ordered, 30 to 5 of them, 19 to 4, 19 to 3, 14 to 2, 13 to 1, and 26 to none—the last-named are chiefly vacant out in full, as he don't like to have things churches. SPLENDID ASSEMBLAGE OF EX-CONFEDE-RATES-THE MEMBERS OF THE OLD BATTA-LION AND OF THE PRESENT COMPANY SPEND A SOCIABLE EVENING TOGETHER-TOASTS AND SPEECHES. >

On the 9th of November, 1859, the Richmond Howitzers were organized. The event was appropriately commemorated last night. when those who belonged to the Howitzer companies during the war and the active members of the present command met together-the latter the guests of the formerand around richly-laden tables revived old memories and cemented anew friendships made in the bivouac and on the battle-field.

The rendezvous was the Supreme Courtroom. There, at 9 o'clock, assembled about 125 gentlemen-most of them yet entitled to be called young; many of them prominent in professional and business life here, and distinguished for that genteel bearing which made the Howitzers in the war almost as notable as their gallantry on the field. With the old members in the lead and the present company (in uniform) following, they started from the court-room to the Exchange Hotel, where the banquet was spread.

Mr. George L. Christian, president of the Howitzer Association, delivered a brief ad-dress-"a brother's welcome to a father's house," he called it. The object of these reunions, he said, was to rekindle memories of a struggle fought on principle and sealed with their brothers' blood. In concluding, he requested Rev. Dr. J. William Jones to ask a blessing.

Dr. Jones besought the Lord to bless the reunion and to make them all grateful when they partook of His bounty. The banquet was then commenced and ample justice done to the inviting dishes provided.

In due time the following TOASTS

1. Virginia-The type of her civilization, though unproductive of great material progress, still ripens into that moral splendor which is illustrated by the greatness and goodness of her Washington, her

Lee, and her Jackson. Music: Carry Me Back to Old Virginia. 2. The Army of Northern Virginia-That array of tattered uniforms and bright muskets; that body of incomparable infantry which for four years carried the revolt on its bayonets, opposing a constant front to the mighty combination of power brought against it; which, receiving terrible blows, did not fail to give the like; and which, vital in all its parts, died only with its an-

Music: Dixie. 3. The Artillery of Richmond-With the cannon's fish, and the cannon's crash, With the cannon's roar and rattle, then Richmond's sons, with their gleaming guns, Went down to their country's battle."

Music: Quick March. 4. The Howitzer Battalion-Soldiers in war: citizens in peace. Music: Bonnie Blue Flag. 5. The Present Company of Howitzers-

Heirs of a proud name and stainless banner. Music: The Marseillaise. 6. The Women of the South-

"They weep at heart the dear Lost Cause, Yet fill the busy hours with duty; They fold no hands with languid pause, But crown our shattered homes with beauty." Music: Home, Sweet Home. 7. The Jacket of Gray-Fold it up carefully, lay it aside: Tenderly touch it: look on it with pride, For dear must it be to our hearts ever more. The jacket of gray that our soldler boys wore.

Music: Then You'll Remember Me. 8. Our Dead-We weep for the herces who died for us. Who, living, were true and tried for us. And in death side by side for us. Music : Dead March.

The following RESPONSES 1. Captain J. H. Chamberlayne responded, speaking eloquently of Virginia, and pleasantly and forcibly of the artillery as the strong arm of the service. 2. Rev. J. William Jones (the fighting parson) paid a splendid tribute to the Army of Northern Virginia. The Doctor is al ways in demand at these reunions. They couldn't get along without him. There isn't a man who served with Lee who doesn't know him, and, what is more, they all love him. 3. For the artillery of Richmond Colonel H. Coalter Cabell spoke, as he was well entitled to. He related some of the achievements of the Richmond artillerymen, particularly referring to the record of the Howitzers, Fayette artillery, and Purcell battery. The Colonel declared that Richmond artillerymen bore prominent part in every important engagement of the Army of Northern Virginia, and that their history would be the history of that great and grand army, so closely was it interwoven with it. In conclusion, he proposed a sentiment in memory of General J. Bankhead

4. In the absence of the chosen orator. omitted.

5. Captain (now Major) Henry C. Carter, who is as modest and gentle as he is brave and true, responded in very appropriate terms, eliciting the heartiest kind of applause.

6. General Bradley T. Johnson was called upon to answer, and spoke of the heroism of the women of the South in a style rarely excelled on such occasions.

7. Carlton McCarthy, who has made considerable reputation by his Detailed Minutiæ of Soldier-Life, here showed his acquaintance with the quartermaster and commissary departments, and humorously told how it was the Confederate soldier "fought for nothing and found himself."

8. Captain Henry Hudnall, in dealing with this fruitful yet difficult subject, did himself credit and paid a fine tribute to the departed worthies of the Confederate army. Between 12 and 1 o'clock the banquet ended.

The music at the banquet was furnished by the Amateur band. Before leaving the Supreme Court-room the following officers of the Association were elected: President, George L. Christian; Henry Hudnall first vice-president; Henry C. Carter, second vice-president; R. S. Bosher, secretary; R. C. Wortham, treasurer; and an executive committee of two from each company. Major Robert Stiles was chosen orator.

The most extraordinary optical delusion was his "Happy Surgical Operation." In this trick a little boy gets on the stage and is placed immediately in front of the foot-lights, in a chair, and in the presence of all. The Commandeur, with the paper, &c., was tried and convicted, and his aid of a well-sharpened ordinary carvingterm of confinement ascertained at two knife, deliberately cuts off the youth's nose. Editors of the Dispatch:

In relation to the paragraph which appeared in the local column of your paper esterday merning, which states that the first premium for fine eigars was awarded o Messrs. W. D. Blair & Co. at the last Fair of the Virginia State Agricultural Society," &c., and which does me great injustice, inasmuch as it gives a wrong statement of the matter, I beg to submit the following facts, which I hope you will lay before your read-

The Agricultural Society offered in its list of premiums $10 for the "best specimen of cigars." For this premium there were two contestants-Messrs. Blair & Co. and myself. The judges of award, after examining into the relative merits of both displays. made the following entries in their report without any reference to the ten-dollar premium for the "best specimen of cigars": "Special award to W. D. Blair & Co. for best display of fine cigars," and special award to C. C. Salamone for best display of home-made cigars." Not knowing at the time of the action of the judges, and seeing that Messrs. Blair & Co. were claiming the "first premium," &c., I entered a formal protest with the chief of the department (Dr. S. P. Moore). That protest has been considered by the local committee (Dr. S. P. Moore and Colonel W. C. Knight), who, after consideration, have decided that "the award must stand on the judgment of the judges, and be divided between Messrs. Blair & Co. and Mr. . C. Salamone. By this decision if seen that the premium of $10 is to be divided between the two contestants, and consequently the "first premium" for fine cigars or any other sort is not "the property of Messrs. Blair & Co.," as stated in the Disnatch. The awards of the judges had no reference to first, second, or third premiums, but were special awards; and therefore the "first premium" does not belong to either party, but each has a premium equal, not superior, in value to the other. Below will be found the secretary's verification of the action of the committee. Very respectfully, C. C. SALAMONE.
